In support of the Association's mission, the Protégé Mentorship Program provides a unique, interactive educational opportunity and will foster a passion for Transfusion Medicine as a long-term career.

- Formulation of a Strong Peer Network

Your SCABB membership offers so many opportunities to network with fellow members and leaders in the industry through attendance at the Annual Meetings, participation in Educational Events, use of the Membership Directory and connection through social media (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn & SCABB Blog).

- Membership Scholarship Opportunities

- Exposure to the Latest Technologies at the Annual Meeting's Technical Exhibits

- Discounted registration fees on SCABB Educational Events

Receive great discounts on registration fees for webinars (which we call SCABBinars), Regional Symposiums and the Annual Meeting.

"What I like most about being a member of the association are the friendships I have developed with people in every possible branch of transfusion medicine: from donor recruiters to managers, bench technologists, educators, research scientists, medical directors, and SBB students. This is a wonderful resource for someone just starting their career—to find these mentors and to be able to ask questions. When I attend the meetings, I feel assured that someone, somewhere in the room has an answer to my question—whether it's a technical question or a challenging situation encountered at work. SCABB members are so welcoming and generous with their expertise. It's a wonderful, nurturing environment to learn in."

What is South Central?

South Central Association of Blood Banks (SCABB) is a nonprofit organization consisting of ten states assigned to four districts. The districts include DISTRICT I - Texas; DISTRICT II - Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada and Oklahoma; DISTRICT III - Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi; DISTRICT IV - Florida. Each district is represented by at least one district director. There is also one Director-at-large for those who wish to be a member of South Central but do not live in the core SCABB states.

The individual members of the Association are healthcare professionals such as medical technologists, nurses, physicians, administrators, donor recruiters, phlebotomists, and industry representatives interested in the field of transfusion medicine.

The institutional members are hospitals, blood donor centers, and blood testing centers.

The Associate corporate members are companies that support SCABB and provide products and services for the individual and institutional members of the organization.
